REPORT OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

San Francisco, June 29, 1927.

Honorable C. C. Young,
Governor of California,
Sacramento, California.

Sir: In compliance with law I submit herewith a report of the business of this department for the past two years.

The steady increase in the business handled by this department, shown in previous reports, still continues. Each act of legislation, whether it be a new enactment or an amendment of existing law, produces a change in conditions affecting both public and private business, frequently requiring the services of this department in the determination of the rights and obligations of the state, its officers, agents and employees, and the public. The volume of business so done by this department, in the attention given by it to all such matters, continues to tax its office force to the utmost.

During the period covered by this report over 846 civil cases were handled by the office in the various courts of this state and of the United States, 99 of these cases finding their way to the appellate courts.

The reports of the district attorneys of the state, the details of which are hereinafter presented, show during the last two-year period a total of 14,985 accusations of felony. Of this number 3905 were disposed of before trial. In 8313 cases pleas of guilty were entered or convictions were had as the result of trial. In 964 cases the trials resulted in acquittals, and 1804 cases were pending at the time of such reports. For the purpose of comparison the figures covering the last two biennial periods are herewith given.

During this period 473 criminal cases were appealed to the appellate courts of the first, second and third appellate districts. Of these, 295 cases were affirmed, 57 were reversed and 120 are pending. In 6 of the cases so reversed the Supreme Court, after hearing upon petition of the people, reversed the judgment of the appellate court and affirmed the judgment of conviction. Thirty-nine criminal cases were decided in the Supreme Court, including those originally appealed thereto and those in which hearings were granted by that court after judgment in the District Court of Appeal. Of these 39 cases 28 were decided in favor of the people, 7 were reversed and 4 are pending. Of a total of 526 criminal cases handled by this office during the past biennium, 128 were pending at the time this report was compiled, 2 were dismissed, leaving 396 as a basis for statistical comment. Of these 396, 332 were affirmed and 64 reversed, making the percentage of affirmances on appeal 84. This percentage is the same as that of the preceding biennium.

The money due the State of California from the public utility corporations involved in the so-called King tax litigation has, during the past biennium, been paid into the state treasury. Certain points not adjudicated in the original litigation were subsequently determined in favor of the state in the superior court and if the judgment is affirmed on appeal the amount involved will in due time be paid into the state treasury.

Proceedings in bond issues to the amount of $2,454,500, wherein the state has become in whole or in part the purchaser of such bonds, have been reviewed by this office. All contracts entered into under the State Building Act, and all contracts by the State Highway Commission for highway construction, have been examined and approved. In its efforts to aid the various officers, boards and commissions and the several district attorneys of the state, the time of this department has been much taken with consultations, 635 written opinions having been rendered and innumerable advisory letters having been written.

The civil litigation conducted by the office during this period has been very large and has included a number of cases of especial importance because of the amount involved and many others of unusual interest because of importance of the questions of law involved. A particular discussion of such cases would extend this letter to unreasonable length.

The following is a summary of 1372 civil and criminal cases handled by this department during the period covered by this report:

REPORT OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

San Francisco, February 16, 1929.

Hon. C. C. Young,

Governor of California.

Sacramento, California.

Sir: In accordance with statutory direction I submit herewith the report of the business of this department for the past two years.

Each succeeding report made by this department has shown an increase in business handled, and generally this increase has been somewhat uniform and for the most part could be accounted for by increased population and normal growth and development of business.

This report discloses an increase of business greatly exceeding that appearing during the period covered by any previous report. This is mainly due to growth of civil business, for the increase in criminal cases may be considered as no more than normal.

During the last several years there has been much legislation of both regulatory and prohibitive character, and business and property do not yield readily to new acts of regulation or to new license or tax impositions. The interpretation, application and enforcement of these measures has employed much of the time of this office and occasioned frequent resort to the courts.

The validity of the Motor Vehicle Transportation Acts of 1923 and 1925 was challenged and this resulted in much litigation in the trial and appellate courts of the state, and passing ultimately to the Supreme Court of the United States. Finally, the validity of these acts was upheld, and because of injunctions issued during the pendency of the cases the collection of the license tax could not be enforced, and at the time the litigation terminated there were some 5000 cases of delinquency. The total amount of unpaid tax under these acts is about $1,000,000, for the collection of which some 5000 suits have been instituted and are now pending.

During the past two years, excluding the 5000 transportation license cases, the number of civil cases handled by this department is 187 greater than that handled during any preceding biennium. Of these civil cases more than 100 have been carried to the various appellate courts of the state and some of these to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Corresponding with the growth of civil litigation the occasions have multiplied wherein the time of this office has been called upon for advice, which has been furnished through written opinions and through consultations with officers, boards and commissions.

While changes in the laws designed for the regulation and control of business, and changes in the system of taxation are from time to time required, it must be remembered that such changes greatly disturb business and result in much litigation in determining the application and validity of such new acts.

While the report shows an increase in criminal cases, this may not be regarded as abnormal, but is accounted for by the increase of population and by new legislation which has added to the number of statutory crimes, and though much has been and is being said as to a crime wave, the records disprove its existence in California.

At the 1927 session of the Legislature many changes were made in the criminal statutes of the state and experience since then has shown the advisability of some further changes and additions. These, however, will all be covered in the report of the Crime Commission, hereafter to be presented by such Commission.

Frequent changes in our penal statutes disturb the enforcement of criminal law in the same manner that frequent changes in our regulatory and taxing laws disturb business, and changes in neither should be made merely to meet a sporadic or infrequent occurring condition.

It is believed that with the adoption of the proposals of the Crime Commission the criminal code will adequately meet existing conditions.

The details of the reports of the district attorneys are hereinafter presented. They show during the last two-year period 17,616 persons were charged with felonies or indictable misdemeanors in the superior courts of this state. Of this number 4483 were disposed of before trial. In 9188 cases pleas of guilty were entered or convictions were had as a result of trial. In 1202 cases the trials resulted in acquittals, and 1383 cases were pending at the time of the reports. For the purpose of comparison the figures covering the last two biennial periods are herewith compiled.
